

Domenico Colucci – Short CV

Current position:

Ricercatore at Department of Mathematics for Decisions, Faculty of Economics, University of Florence.

Previous position:

1998/1999 – Junior researcher at the Italian Statistical Institute (ISTAT).

Research activities

2006/today – Co-founder of BEELab - Behavioural and Experimental Economics Laboratory at Università di Firenze. In 2007 BEELab joined Siena's LabSi and economic labs of Università di Salerno and Napoli II in the Centro Interuniversitario per l'Economia Sperimentale (interuniversity centre for Experimental Economics)

Research interests

Economic dynamics modelling: bounded rationality, learning, expectation formation and heterogeneous agents; stability of rational expectations equilibria. Choices and rationality in political economics. Online auctions. Experimental economics.

Studies:

1995 - Degree in Political Science at the University of Florence.

Final dissertation in Econometrics: "Econometric synergies: unit roots and cointegration"

Evaluation: Summa cum laude.

1996 - Master's course in Applied economics at CORIPE – Piemonte - Torino

1998 - PhD in Mathematics for Economic Decisions at Pisa University.

Thesis on: "Limits to computational ability in economic models: some mathematical foundations with economic applications".